President Message

Greetings and happy September! After attending the first few planning meetings for the NCCPA OBGYN CAQ I am feeling inspired. It has been wonderful to meet PAs around the country doing what we do best. My goal is to ensure that all PAs have the option to practice in OBGYN. On that note, our four-pronged approach to elevate the OBGYN PA profession continues to be publications, preceptorship, participation, and partnerships. Next week, we will be recording our joint webinar with the PA Foundation and the National Institutes of Health All of Us research program. We encourage you to join, stay tuned for more information!

We hope you are enjoying our APAOG podcast hosted by Morgan, our Artemis journal, and our monthly webinars. We encourage you to participate in each of our publication avenues to showcase your work. Also, with PA Week 2022 coming up we REQUEST submissions to honor your contributions. Please send an image and small biography so that we can share. And lastly, consider adding leadership skills on your resume by participating in one or more of our committees. We are seeking members and chairs!

Melissa Rodriguez, DMSc, PA-C
