Research Survey

Do you have 5 minutes to spare? Bethel University's Physician Assistant Program is conducting a research study looking at the relationship between religious affiliation and views of the prescribing of long-acting, reversible contraceptive methods. The research will be conducted by means of a short survey which is attached to this email. Please feel free to contact researcher Kayla Westling, PA-S (kaw57258@bethel.edu), researcher Ashley Overby, PA-S (aso57553@bethel.edu), or Research chair Lisa Naser, PA-C

Clinical Updates

Recommendations for breast cancer screening in average risk women have been included in the Practice Bulletins for the American Congress of Obstetricians and Gynecologists. The recommendations for screening mammography state the following: "Updated recommendations include that average-risk women be offered screening at age 40, or no later than 50 years. Screening should be continued every one or two years until at least age 75." ACOG encourages shared decision making for all about breast cancer screening decisions. A comparison of breast cancer screening recommendations in average risk women as developed by several recommending bodies can be found here.

The U.S. Preventative Services Task Force issues a statement in July recommending against ovarian cancer screening in women without symptoms, stating that clinicians "should not screen for ovarian cancer in women who have no signs or symptoms of the disease". This reaffirms their statement from 2012. This recommendation does not apply to women with BRCA I/II mutations.

Clinical Updates has been a standard part of the monthly eNewsletter for several months and now we are looking for member feedback regarding this component. Please take a few minutes to complete a 4 question survey through survey monkey via the attached link. Your feedback is important to us as we strive to present you with valuable and relevant information.
