Clinical Update

HPV Vaccination

A study entitled Prophylactic vaccination against human papilloma viruses to prevent cervical cancer and its precursors was recently published by Cochrane Library. Twenty-six trials were included in this evaluation of the HPV vaccine and the results led to the following conclusion: "There is high-certainty evidence that HPV vaccines protect against cervical precancer in adolescent girls and women who are vaccinated between 15 and 26 years of age." In addition, the study concluded that there is no evidence of increased risk of adverse events with administration of the vaccine. A longer study would be needed to determine the full impact on cervical cancer. Read the full article here.
